REIMAGINING THE FUTURE OF TRANSIT

Appendix A - Access Change Isochrone Maps

Isochrone Location Reference Map

Isochrone Map Notes

Measuring Changes in Access From One Location.

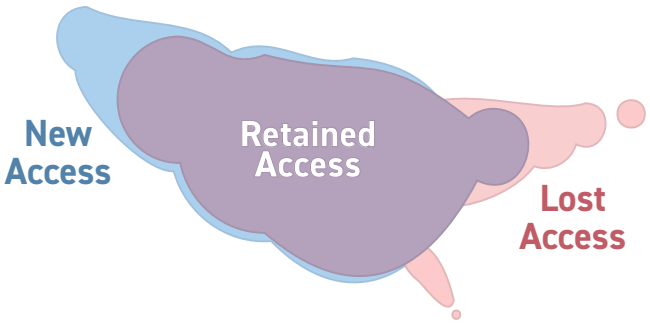

This appendix includes a set of maps that show how far people could go:

- in 60 minutes or less
- using transit and walking only
- in the ReVision Draft Plan
- compared to how far they can go with March 2026 transit service
- starting from 83 prominent locations throughout Pace's service area.

Each location has a number that matches its name, in alphabetical order. The map in Figure 1 (previous page) allows you to situate these locations within the region.

Transit service in these maps includes Pace, CTA and Metra service. The 60 minute travel time includes time spent:

- walking to and from the nearest stop, at the beginning and end of the trip.
- waiting, based on how often the bus or train comes by, and whether any transfers are required
- riding, based on average bus speeds in different areas and average speeds on each rail line.

- The purple area represents where a person could go by transit today, in 60 minutes or less.
- The blue area represents how much farther someone could go by transit in future.
- The pink area represents places someone could go by transit today, but not in future.
